What we do (Nature and Scope)

Naked Finance provides personalised advice to everyday Kiwis in straightforward and easy to understand English. We do this following our bare all approach and ensuring that you fully understand the advice and what it means to you. In this process we get to know you, and what is important to you, helping us shape the advice. We do not view anything we do as a transactional process, rather we want to create a relationship that lasts a lifetime.

We provide advice that falls into three general categories, based on our expertise and training. If your needs fall outside of this, we are more than happy to refer you to another provider in the marketplace upon your request.

These Categories are as follows:

Investments

Insurances

Mortgages

Within these categories, we have looked in the marketplace and chosen the providers we feel best align with our overall strategy for clients. These are as follows:

Banks and Lender

Investments

Insurance

Conduct

In providing these services we are bound by a code of conduct that lays out a duty of care. These are our industry standards of competence, ethical behaviour, conduct, and care.

In short, your best interests are to be held as a central focus of all advice we give. All our advisers at Naked Finance adhere to this code when providing advice to our clients.

How we get paid (Commissions and Incentives)

Firstly, Naked Finance NEVER charges for the advice we provide, only if you choose to action the advice can a fee be incurred. This allows us to stay true to our ethos of ensuring our clients have all the relevant information, before making an informed decision.

If you take out a Policy, Mortgage, or Investment with us, Naked Finance will be paid a fee by the provider (Mortgage lender, Insurer, Superannuation scheme, etc.) A portion of this will be retained by the company to keep the lights on and pay our great staff etc, after this a portion will be paid to the adviser you work with for the work they've done.

In the case of ongoing advice, Naked Finance may receive a fee from the company to facilitate said advice in the form of a percentage of the value of your investment balance, outstanding loan amount, or premiums. This is usually calculated at the end of each month in which you hold the investment or loan, or on renewal of insurance products.

Occasionally providers may like to thank us for the work we do with them, this may take the form of a lunch shout, a bottle of wine, or the like.

Conflicts of Interest

Naked Finance follows a rigorous process to ensure that you, the client's best interests are always the central focus of any advice given. All our advisers undergo regular training to identify and mitigate conflicts of interest when they arise.

To ensure that our financial advisers prioritise our clients' interests above their own, we follow an advice process that ensures our recommendations are made on the basis of each client's goals and circumstances. We undertake an external compliance audit on a biennial basis, and a review of our compliance program is undertaken annually by a reputable compliance adviser.
